

'BLUE LAW' DRIVE IS LESS SEVERE

Columbia, S. C., April 3.—(AP)—The deep blue hue of recent South Carolina Sundays had faded to a light azure haze today, as Governor John G. Richards withheld the power of his officers from interfering with golf or the sale of gasoline pending action by the supreme court upon the ancient Sabbath laws of the state. Soft drinks and smokers' supplies were still under the official ban, however, but at the same time, the chief executive indicated yesterday he did not intend to use his personally-controlled constabulary in any active crusade to close up drug stores and soda fountains. Under the South Carolina constitution, arrests cannot be made on Sunday for alleged violations of the Sunday statutes and vendors of beverages and smoking materials can not legally be halted, but they face the sweeping out of warrants tomorrow or later in the week. Since Governor Richards instituted his blue law crusade six weeks ago, several arrests have been made for selling drinks and other articles of merchandise, and in every instance the defendant has been acquitted by a jury in from 30 seconds to two minutes' deliberation. In Columbia, where the lid has been on tight since the campaign of the governor was announced, gasoline stations were open today to supply motor fuel, but they voluntarily closed during the usual hours of church services. Before the governor launched his drive, they kept open at all hours. Judge William H. Grimball, of Charleston, who issued a temporary order permitting the sale of gasoline in Charleston county on Sunday, will hold a hearing next Friday on the question of making his order permanent. While the injunction applies only to Charleston county, Governor Richards took the position he would not prevent the sale of gasoline in the remainder of the state so long as it is permitted in one county. If Judge Grimball makes his order permanent, an appeal will be taken to the supreme court, according to the chief executive. The supreme court meets a week from tomorrow. It will be requested by Attorney General John M. Daniel to hear arguments immediately upon whether the state Sunday laws, some of which date back to 1691, apply to golf. Judge Hayne F. Rice, holding otherwise, issued an injunction at Aiken several weeks ago preventing the governor's constables and county officers from interfering with golfers on Aiken links.

one a good wife was overheard telling her lessor half that she either had to have a Home Beautiful, or else... and you know what that "or else" means when the woman of the family starts telling friends about things. Anyhow, hubby does, and it's a copper riveted cinch that the better homes market is going to show a substantial increase in business immediately. Moderate Cost. One outstanding feature of the Home Beautiful exhibition this year is the lesson learned by prospective home builders that wonderful homes can be built at moderate costs, if good judgment and good taste prevail in the selection of the type and manner of construction of the house and in the furnishing of the home. Good furniture, one learns through an inspection of the Home Beautiful, is something that not only really is not expensive, but is best in the long run and gives the proper atmosphere for a home. There is so much to see at each of the six exhibits that two days are necessary for a thorough inspection of the entire layout. The homes are grouped so that three may be seen on a visit to one location, namely, Avondale Estates, and the other three on another trip to the Peachtree road section, or Haynes Manor, Argonne and Garden Hills. Each of the six homes is of a somewhat different type, and each has its own distinctive five furnishings, just as each room of the same house is worked out in varying color schemes and furniture motifs.

Labor Saving Ideas.
Labor-saving schemes for the housewife, such as built-in ironing boards, refrigerators which make their own ice, and similar handy odds and ends feature each of the units. The floor plans of the houses are designed in the efficiency spirit, so that "the Mrs." will not have to take too many steps in preparing dinner and in serving it. All of the houses are equipped with several bathrooms each.

Delicate color schemes are carried out in each of the houses, with exquisite window drapes to match, while each home has the master-bedroom and guest bedrooms with a convenient nursery for the children embodied in its construction.

Big Crowd at Avondale.
At Avondale Estates attendance for the day reached a total of 17,800, the greatest in the history of The Constitution's exhibits.

There was a good crowd on hand all during the day but the peak of the attendance came at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Attendance at night, also, was particularly fine.

There were five traffic officers on duty at Atlanta's newest suburb and one and all had all they could do to prevent congestion.

Residents at Avondale entertained the visitors through the medium of the Avondale Community club, where refreshments were served. Members of the club announced that it would be open to visitors at all times and all persons attending the exhibit are urged to take advantage of the invitation.

The homes are located as follows:
No. 10 Covington road, Avondale Estates, loaned by the estate, and valued at $16,500. This unit was furnished under supervision of the interior decorating department of J. M. High company. The home is a two-story English design structure, with living room, dining room, breakfast room, kitchen and reception hall downstairs. Three bedrooms and a sleeping porch, used as a nursery, occupy the upstairs, all opening into a central hallway.

Beauty Features.
No. 185 Bolling Road, Garden Hills, valued at $17,500, loaned by the Garden Hills Corporation, was furnished by Mather Brothers. It is a two-story brick home with living room, dining room, breakfast room, kitchen and lavatory on the first floor, and three large bedrooms on the upper floor.

The Haynes Manor home, at Montview drive and Peachtree Battle avenue, valued at $60,000, built and loaned by Eugene V. Haynes, is of Spanish design in stucco on hollow stile. This house was furnished by M. Rich & Bros. company, and is featured by a downstairs bedroom. There are many large rooms in the house, including a sun room and living room adjoining each other, a dining room, kitchen and bedroom on the first floor, and four bedrooms on the upper floor. A beautiful Spanish court in the rear contains a fountain in the center.

The Argonne drive, near Habersham road, unit, valued at $28,500, was loaned by Chesnut & Johnson, and was furnished with material from Stephen Philibosian, Inc. This house, built of hollow tile and stucco, has a living room, sun room, dining room and breakfast room on the first floor, with four bedrooms on the second floor.

Specialty Built.
The other two units face each other on Clarendon avenue. One, No. 79, Clarendon avenue, is valued at $13,400, while the other, No. 82, is valued at $15,000. Both were built by Hoke Smith and loaned by Avondale Estates, having been erected especially for the Home Beautiful exhibition. These two houses were furnished by Stephen Philibosian, Inc.

Mrs. R. H. Thomas, formerly of Richmond, Va., and now of Atlanta, in charge of the Home Beautiful for the past four years, is in general command of the exhibition this year.

PUNITIVE POLICY IS NOT FAVORED

for foreigners. This is due to no consideration on the part of these Chinese influenced by bolshevik advisers, but entirely to the presence of foreign warships and military.

"It is obvious that a protective policy applying to Shanghai alone will not enable China to put its house in order or prevent enormous losses resulting from the evacuation of the interior districts. We are convinced that the future welfare of the Chinese and the ultimate safety of Americans and other foreigners can be attained only by unified action of the powers to suppress disorder and restore conditions favorable to the formation of a responsible government."

"We believe that immediate, concerted action of the powers to restore the security of foreign lives and property at the treaty ports and to recover all foreign properties destroyed or confiscated will have a far-reaching influence throughout China and be of ultimate benefit to the Chinese. This result should not be difficult with the naval force now in Chinese waters."

"In our opinion the future peace of the world and the welfare of the Chinese people would best be served by the maintenance of the alignment of powers established by the Washington treaties and their cooperation in the service pledged to China during the Washington conference."

JOINT ACTION SEEN BY GREAT BRITAIN.

London, April 3.—(United News.) British authorities expect that joint representations to the nationalist government of China over the Nanking incident will be made by the United States, Great Britain and Japan within the next three days.

The note to be sent to the nationalists already is in process of formation through direct negotiations between the ambassadors of the three governments at London, Tokyo and Washington. It is understood here.

The Exchange Telegraph company's Shanghai correspondent reports that Chinese guerrillas have been busy over the weekend and that British sailors there have been forced to use machine guns. A mass meeting of Chinese urged extreme anti-foreign action.

Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek, commander of the nationalist military forces, expects soon to have 30,000 men in the vicinity of Shanghai, says the correspondent. Chiang then intends to proceed against the north Chinese forces along the Tientsin-Pukow railway, paving the way for his contemplated advance against Peking.

JAPANESE SAILORS FIRE ON CHINESE.

Shanghai, China, April 3.—(AP)—Japanese sailors at Hankow, attempting to disperse a mob of Chinese coolies which was looting shops in the Japanese concession there today, were compelled to fire with machine guns, resulting in the wounding of two Chinese, says a Japanese naval radio message from Hankow.

The message said the mob invaded the concession after a quarrel there between a Japanese sailor and a rickshaw coolie. Shops were looted and Japanese nationals were held up in the street. A detachment of Japanese sailors was landed hurriedly from warships in the Yangtze and in dispersing the looters opened fire.

GRAVE ANXIETY FELT OVER U. S. CITIZENS.

Washington, April 3.—(AP)—Grave anxiety over the plight of Americans still widely scattered in the interior of China, apparently was still holding back any official disclosure of the steps the Washington government is preparing to take for the execution of reparations for the Nanking outrages. Overnight advices from China showed no material change in the general situation, another shipment of American refugees from Hankow for Shanghai was reported by Consul General Lockhart; development of a seamen's strike at Amoy was noted in another message and in some other cases the official reports indicated that tension had relaxed slightly in one or two outlying treaty ports.

Throughout all discussion in Washington of the Nanking incident, the thing that has prominently thrust itself forward despite official silence, is the fact that the Washington government still is pre-occupied mainly with the problem of extricating from interior China. Americans nearly all of them missionaries, and many of whom have refused thus far to leave their posts.

"BLOODIEST VOTE"

Chicago fears may be its bloodiest election. Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins announced that his men were ready for the worst. Mayor Dever and Thompson announced that their men were ready also.

An indication of what the natives are expecting in the way of violence was seen in the arrival during the afternoon of Adjutant General Carlos Black from Springfield. Black was here to see whether the city needs state trooper, as urged by Sheriff Charles E. Graydon. He will report his findings to Governor Len Small, who will make the final decision on whether troops are to be sent to guard the polls.

Many Charges Hurdled.
Charges and counter-charges of riot-provoking methods by the candidates, disenfranchisement of voters, graft and intimidation have almost buried the real campaign issues and the feud between Dever and Thompson has almost shut out the fact that there is a third candidate, Dr. John Dill Robertson, former head of the board of education. Dr. Robertson is running independently but he is not a spectacular vote-getter and probably will cut a very small figure in the election.

Dever supporters charge that "Big Bill" Thompson has the complete backing of all the beer barons, gangsters and gunmen who have given Chicago the unenviable designation: "America's crime capital." Thompson men have accused the democrats of inciting race hatreds with a view toward provoking a race war in the negro wards; the former mayor's adherents also have charged Dever with disenfranchising more than 20,000 voters who would cast their ballots for the republican candidate.

Thompson is backed by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, who gained national fame as the prosecutor of the Loeb-Leopold case. Crowe was charged by two democratic chieftains with using gangsters and hoodlums to foster the Thompson campaign. The democrats went before Chief Justice Lindsay of the criminal court last week and demanded and received a special grand jury to investigate the state's attorney's political activities. And a special state's attorney was appointed to sift the charges. The grand jury convenes Monday.

At the same time Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, friend of Crowe and Thompson, will go before a regular grand jury to complain against alleged democratic irregularities.

ON HIS WAY HOME

Carol still was a mystery tonight. Late this evening his limousine drove into the courtyard of his villa at Neully and a man bearing no resemblance to the prince, alighted. Shortly afterward a statement was delivered to the Paris press in behalf of the prince as follows:

Report By Prince.

"Prince Carol, of Rumania, received tonight a telegram from Bucharest according to which the health of the king inspires no anxiety in his family. The king is suffering from a slight attack of grippe, which is following its normal course. His temperature has not risen above 37.5 centigrade (99.5 Fahrenheit). The queen of Serbia has gone to Bucharest to be with her father, but King Alexander is still in Belgrade."

It is believed that the object of this statement was to convey the impression that the prince has not left France. Wherever he is, however, apparently he has no further need of his big automobile, which still is at Neully. Whoever returned to the villa in it tonight, left later in a small car belonging to the prince.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN KING'S CONDITION.

Bucharest, April 3.—(P)—Improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand of Rumania, who has been gravely ill with grippe, was reported today in an official bulletin signed by six physicians who are in attendance on the king.

The king's condition was looked on with optimism by his entourage and all members of the royal family today affirmed that his chances for recovery appeared much better.

Prince Michael, son of Prince Carol, and who is now crown prince by virtue of his father's renunciation of his rights to the throne two years ago, visited his grandfather today.

The minister in charge of the royal palace today issued the following bulletin:

"His majesty passed a very good night. His temperature was 38.6 centigrade (101.48 Fahrenheit) at the last examination; his respiration 24 and his pulse 90."

The general state of amelioration in the king's condition as announced in the last day or two was maintained in a bulletin signed by the six attending physicians and issued at 12:30 today.

Dr. Slugs, the Belgian radium expert, who has arrived from Brussels, was among the signers.

and into the stream, in addition to the debris from telescoped express cars.

There were three express cars on the passenger train, two of them filled with passengers from the Fort Valley district. The passenger was said to have been killed. The messengers were in the third express car.

The locomotives figuring in the crash were of heavy design, the passenger locomotive being of the mountain type, and the freight locomotive of the milado type.

Wires Torn Down.

When the cars were hurled out of the freight train and over the side of the trestle, the wreckage tore down all of the railway's wires and also all of the Western Union wires on the railroad's right-of-way.

Train crew had difficulty in reporting the accident to the dispatchers here.

The north-bound Dixie flyer, Dixie express and the Southland were derailed by way of Americus, Columbus and Newnan to Atlanta, and the south-bound Florida and the Dixie limited were derailed over the tracks of the Georgia, Southern and Florida railway to Tifton, where they took their regular route.

Traffic was reopened at 6 p. m. today.

stretching as far as the eye can reach, and covering slope and peak everywhere.

Authorities of the state and national bureaus of agriculture have pronounced this section as being one of the finest for apple growing in the entire country. In many respects this district resembles the noted regions of Oregon and Washington where fruit of widely known excellence are grown.

Some idea of the ideal location of this apple producing district may be gained from a statement made to The Constitution by C. R. Porter, of the Porter Brothers Farm corporation in which he pointed out that whereas it costs $1.50 per hundred pounds to ship apples here from Washington and requires 11 days in shipping, a carload may be shipped from Esom Hill, Ga., to Atlanta for $26.50 and require only 24 hours in transportation.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, cooperating with the officials of the Cornelia apple blossom festival, have arranged with the Southern railroad to operate special trains today and Tuesday. One special leaves the Terminal station Tuesday at 7 a. m. and arrives in Cornelia at 10:45 a. m. Three trains will return, excursionists. A special rate of $1.75 round trip has been designated by railroad officials.

Safety and Power

Chick Murray, famous race driver, after setting two new world's records in Atlanta during the past ten days, again demonstrated to the world the phenomenal performing ability of the Whippet by driving a stock touring car from the base of Stone Mountain to its summit in the record-breaking time of 9.16 minutes.

The return down the mountain presented an equally hazardous task, twisting and straining through the narrow roadless crevices and over the sheer rock ridges.

Never before have four-wheel brakes been given such a gruelling test as this, which proved conclusively and convincingly to all present that the WHIPPET is the safest light car on the road today.

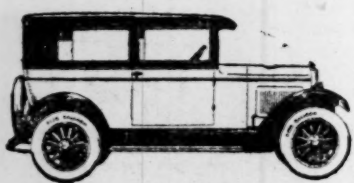

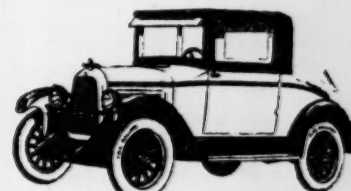

This test was conducted by the Atlanta Motor Club (affiliated with the American Automobile Association), Al. S. Jones, observer.

You owe it to yourself and family to ride in the car

Whippet Sets New Record In Stone Mountain Climb

BY HERB McCUSKER.

Shattering the previous time record by seven minutes and 44 seconds, a Whippet stock-touring car with Chick Murray, noted auto racer, at the wheel, Sunday afternoon climbed Stone Mountain in 9 minutes 16 seconds, before a crowd estimated at 7,000 persons, and gained the added distinction of being the only car of small piston displacement that ever reached the summit of the mountain under its own power.

The performance of the Whippet was unanimously agreed upon by observers as being one of the most remarkable accomplishments in automobile annals, inasmuch as the comparatively small machine had no road or trail to follow other than the pedestrian path, which winds up the mountain side, through boulders and over numerous crevices. Despite the amazing speed with which the car essayed the climb, the record would have been considerably lower had no over-anxious spectators crowded the path and upon two occasions compelled Murray to stop the machine on steep slopes.

The Whippet was the third car that ever climbed Stone Mountain and returned to the bottom under its own power. In order to demonstrate the great power contained in four-wheeled brakes, Murray brought the machine to a halt on the downward journey, selecting the steepest slopes for the exhibition.

The official time was caught by Al S. Jones, representative of the Atlanta Automobile association, affiliated with the American Automobile association.

The Whippet used Sunday was the same car which two weeks ago smashed the time record between Atlanta and Macon, making the trip in 1 hour 53 minutes. A week later the same car and driver established a new world's record for stock car performance on a dirt track by traveling 225 miles in the Lakewood track here for an average of 47 miles an hour.

BRITISH ADV. MAN HERE NEXT WEEK

Atlantans will be privileged to hear one of the foremost authors, advertising experts and statesmen of Great Britain on April 11 and 12, with the arrival here of Sir Charles F. Higham, former member of the British parliament, who will be the guest of F. A. Wilson-Lawson, publisher of the Atlanta Georgian, during his stay.

Honoring the distinguished visitor, a number of luncheons and banquets have been arranged, during the course of which Sir Charles will speak on advertising from an international viewpoint, as well as on the relations between the United States and Great Britain—a subject he is particularly well qualified to discuss.

Coming to Atlanta primarily in the interest of one of his advertising clients, the India Tea Growers, Sir Charles will arrive on the Crescent Limited from New York on Monday, April 11. That evening he will be the guest of the Atlanta Retail Merchants association at dinner in the Capital City Club. He will speak on "How to Get the Most Out of Advertising."

Tuesday afternoon Sir Charles will address the Atlanta Rotary club luncheon on "My Country and Yours," during which he is expected to reveal many sidelights on relations between the countries. It was for public service rendered during and after the world war that he was knighted in 1919.

The chamber of commerce, with the junior chamber, will honor Sir Charles at a dinner in the chamber building Tuesday night. On Wednesday afternoon he will be guest of the Woman's club at that organization's clubhouse on Peachtree street. Wednesday night, at 6:30, the British knight will leave for Louisville.

Sir Charles is known as one of the foremost advertising experts of the world. He is an advocate of newspaper advertising and devotes virtually 95 per cent of all expenditures placed in his hands by clients in newspaper advertising. He is the author of a number of authoritative works on advertising.

MORSE TO SPEAK AT TEMPLE TONIGHT

Professor Josiah Morse, of the University of South Carolina will address the annual convention of the Temple Sisterhoods of Georgia, Florida and Alabama at the Temple on Pryor street at Richardson tonight instead of Tuesday night, as was erroneously reported in previous publication.

Between 300 and 350 members will be in attendance here during the convention. It is estimated. Members are making their headquarters at the Standard club.

GEORGE AND CRISP TO ADDRESS OFFICERS

Cordale, Ga., April 3.—(Special.)—Senator Walter George will deliver an address before the Georgia Sheriffs and Peace Officers association on the first day of the annual session in Douglas on April 14. It is announced here by Sheriff C. O. Noble, president of the association, Congressman Charles R. Crisp, of the third district, will also speak to the officers.

The program for the two-day session is being considered one of the most important sessions in its history is promised.

Exposure will bring on stiffness

BACK AND LEGS WERE STIFF AND SORE

Policeman has learned how to get rid of muscle-lameness

A policeman, who has been a member of the Philadelphia Police Department for twenty-six years, has found a way to get rid quickly of the ache and stiffness caused by over-exercise and exposure.

"I do a lot of walking and am exposed to all kinds of weather," he says. "When all other remedies fail, Sloan's Liniment gives me relief for pains in the back and legs."

Sloan's gives quick and genuine relief to all kinds of muscular aches because it doesn't just deaden the nerves—it gets at the cause.

Just pat it on lightly, without rubbing. Right to the place that hurts, it sends a healing tide of fresh, new blood. Stiff muscles limber up, the aching stops, and you are as fit as ever in no time. Get a bottle today and have it on hand for the first emergency. All druggists—35 cents.

ATLANTA ARCHITECT DRAWS SCHOOL PLANS

With the recent commissioning of William J. Chase, Atlanta architect, to draw up specifications for the new Rabun Gap-Nacoochee institute buildings, plans for consolidation of the two north Georgia schools were well under way.

The project, which is to replace the Rabun Gap and Nacoochee schools recently destroyed by fire, with a modern institution, has the backing of a group of prominent Georgians, who are quietly going about the work of financing the undertaking with the assurance that Rockefeller interests will make a $50,000 contribution when the local fund totals $100,000, it was said.

Among those who are directing the campaign are Charles Nunnally, head-of the finance committee; J. B. Campbell, head of the building committee; George Winslow, all of Atlanta, and Harry Hodgson, of Athens.

The school will be co-educational and non-sectarian, having as its primary aim the education of mountain youth along agricultural and industrial lines, laid out with a view to fitting students for a better livelihood in the mountain districts.

Tentative plans call for an expenditure of $250,000. Mr. Chase said in a building program to include immediate erection of a central school structure, dining hall and girls' and boys' dormitory, work on which is scheduled to begin some time during the early fall, according to Mr. Nunnally.

on Free Trial In Your Own Home

OUR Merchandise Manager has said: "Let any Atlanta customer have an Automatic Instantaneous Gas Water Heater installed in his home on a free trial. We know the value of a perfect hot water service—believe in it ourselves—and we are willing that the customer shall see for himself . . . in his own home. There shall be no obligations to buy."

What more liberal a proposition? You take the water heater, use it yourself, see whether it "works" or not. If it does, and you are satisfied . . . simply sign up the order and take 15 months to pay. That's how strongly we believe in Automatic Gas Water Heating!

Whether for laundry, for bath, for cleaning, for scrubbing—it's mighty convenient to have steaming, sizzling HOT Water in an unending flood!

It's such a luxury to have an abundant supply of this household necessity. Right at your finger tips! No running down to the basement to light the heater. . . . no tea-kettle water-heating!

Come by any of our stores this week. See the various models of "Automatics" in operation. We think you will say: "Send one out, right away!"

"How Hot is Hot?"

To those persons having received last week one of the Dr. Forbes Bath Thermometers we will give, upon their calling at our Main Store, an interesting booklet on "correct water temperatures and uses."

This manual has been prepared by such authorities as Dr. Edwin F. Bower, Dr. Luther E. Holt, and S. J. MacLeod.

It explains "How HOT is Hot?" Gives the proper methods for laundering silks, woollens, linens; removal of stains, the use of hot water in home nursing. It is an authoritative little brochure that will find much use in your home.

Apple Blossom Festival Will Help Apple Industry

W. A. Riley, who is general manager of the Atlantic Ice and Coal company, operating cold storages in Atlanta and seven or eight other leading southern cities, when speaking of the apple industry in Habersham and Rabun counties, and the approaching Apple Blossom festival, to be held tomorrow at Cornelia, stated that he had carefully watched this industry for the last 14 years and had personally taken an interest in making suggestions in the uniform packing of the wonderful apples grown in that section so as to insure proper results under storage. From a mere handful of apples for storage 10 or 12 years ago, namely, not over two carloads, he stated that this company is now annually contracting with Georgia growers for something over 100 cars for cold storage, and hearing the possibility of expansion in view. The company is arranged from year to year to take care of any demands that may arise. Mr. Riley further stated that the people of Habersham and adjacent counties are to be congratulated that they are using intelligence in the variety of apples grown, as well as the manner in which they are marketing. It is undoubtedly classified as A No. 1 in every respect, and apples grown in this section have proven exceedingly good keepers under refrigeration, and the quality and flavor are demanding attention. The good people of Habersham should be encouraged by all Georgia in their undertaking to put on an apple blossom festival. The sight of apple blossoms thrown over a panorama of miles will repay anyone for the time and expense of attending this festival.

The further stated that the idea advocated of holding an Apple Blossom festival in north Georgia one year and Peach Blossom festival in south Georgia the following year, is a capital one and should have the hearty cooperation of everyone in Georgia.

Unsightly Mail Boxes Made Into Artistic Ornaments

DIXIE SEAL CO. CONGRATULATES APPLE GROWERS

It is nothing but natural that a fellow who ships an article that he isn't willing to "stand back of" doesn't want his name to appear on it. On the other hand, when a man has something that he is proud of, he can bet that he wants it known that he has had a hand in producing it—this is the reason that you feel safe in buying an article that is "advertised."

Years ago fruit growers, (lots of them didn't, of course), thought it "clever" to put the "big ones" on top—but, now-a-days, everybody knows that it is nothing more than good business, as well as plain honesty, to pack only the same grade together—to mark the package showing the contents—and put the address of the grower on it.

The day is fast approaching when Georgia apples will be known all over the country—the ones raised in the northern section of this state are the equal, if not superior to those grown in any part of the United States. Even though the apples trees are just blossoming it isn't too early to get thought to the matter of marking the packages—for this purpose rubber stamps and stencils are considered the simplest and best method—these can be made in plain type, or of any particular design.

One of the oldest and largest concerns in the marking device line in this section is the Dixie Seal and Stamp company, 33 Poplar street, Atlanta—for years they have helped the fruit growers advertise their goods—they take this opportunity to congratulate the apple growers in and around Cornelia on their enterprise in arranging the Apple Blossom festival—and to wish them the best of luck in producing a good and paying crop this year.

Unsightly Mail Boxes Made Into Artistic Ornaments

Visitors to the fine residential sections of Fulton county have noted with interest the many beautiful and artistic mail boxes in front of the finer residences.

Nearly all of these artistic mail boxes have been made and designed by the well-known Ornamental Iron Works of Dixie Bros., at 340 Whitehall street. This company has been making the machine-up of mail boxes of Atlanta for the past quarter of a century as the leading machine and repair shop of this section, and it may be news to a great many of their patrons that their activities are not confined to the work of building and repairing machines, engines, pumps, automobiles, but includes the manufacture of ornamental iron work, iron stairs, railings, hammered hardware, and the duplication of antique iron work of all kinds.

Their large shop has been called upon to manufacture a line of this work, and having been required to design a great many mail boxes, wrought iron with ornamental scroll work, they decided that it was necessary to design a standard line which should be artistic, and ornamental and at the same time not more expensive than the wooden covers used in the past. The result of their endeavor has been the production of a line which is not only inexpensive, but not more expensive than the improvised covering used in the past.

Apple Blossom Festival Will Do Much To Help Industry

The apple blossom festival to be held in Habersham and Rabun counties tomorrow at Cornelia, will be of untold value to the apple industry everywhere in Georgia, says J. E. Skaggs, president of the Southeastern Express company.

"The live people of that section should be congratulated on their energy and foresight in taking advantage of the opportunity," said Mr. Skaggs, "for never was there a better time to focus the eyes of the rest of the country on the many and diversified crops Georgia raises in addition to the great annual peach crop. This event will have a more far-reaching effect than the average mind will at first grasp; but it will attract the attention of the country, and when harvest time comes around many large buyers from all parts of the country will be in north Georgia who have the first time heard of the thousands and thousands of fruit-bearing trees now in that section.

Big Machinery Firm Helps The Farmer Help Himself

We often hear where some firm states that it will cooperate with its customers, and sometimes this same word cooperate sounds big but does not mean quite as much as it implied it would.

The is a big company in Wayneboro, Pa., known as the Frick Company, Inc., that manufactures tractors and portable engines, threshers, gas tractors and sawmill machinery, and this firm which has been making the best grade of heavy farm and sawmill machinery for three-quarters of a century, is one company that does really cooperate with its customers.

The Frick company has more than $5,000,000 assets, and it will sell a responsible farmer or sawmill man a large or small bill of machinery upon his own terms and give him any reasonable time to pay for what he buys. As this company has plenty of money always on hand to take care of expansion and replacement at its large plant, instead of ordering its farmer friends and customers about paying it the money as quick as possible, so that it can loan it out at interest to promote some other kind of business, it loans the money to the farmer himself, if he wants long time to pay for what he buys from time.

The plan works out like this: One or more responsible men wish to buy a tractor, a sawmill, a threshing machine, or oil-burning engine, a large or small tractor, or any other farm machinery the company makes, and the buyer has but very little ready cash to spare at the time he or they wish to buy. If they live in the Atlanta territory they can get from the company's factory branch here just what they want, and instead of trying to borrow some money from somebody else to pay the balance due, the Frick company representative, T. H. Ball, says they will be your banker, and you can pay them 6 per cent interest on the balance when due, and take the machinery you need and put it to work out in your fields or woods and

Atlanta Mattress Bought by Empire And Both Are Busy

"We have been making and renovating mattresses for a long time," states W. H. Jones, one of the proprietors of the Empire Mattress company on Goodwin street and Fortness avenue, of this year we had the opportunity of making several mattresses for farmers who brought us their own cotton and now have the pleasure of sleeping on beds made of cotton grown by themselves.

"When you stop to think of this," continued Mr. Jones, "it was a capital idea and one whereby the cotton grower saved himself considerable money; as it only takes about 45 pounds of cotton to make the better kind of mattress and when the low price he was offered did not suit him and he needed one or more good mattresses and when his cotton was brought to us one day he carried home a new mattress the next day, you may be sure he saved considerable by buying his cotton from himself."

Mr. Jones says that business has been remarkably good this year. "First I took J. T. Barfield into the firm," he said, "and then we bought out the Atlanta Mattress company of 327 Houston street, who, as everybody who has lived in Atlanta for many years knows, is the oldest renovating mattress company in Atlanta."

"Mr. Barfield looks after the outside business of both plants, A. Z. Wallace, who has been with the Atlanta Mattress company for nearly 25 years, is the foreman of that busy shop, and I look after our south side shop; this means that a phone call at Ivy 3847 will call the north side shop and Main 0115 will call the south side shop. Our customers are assured the quickest kind of good service."

These new consolidations make the combination one of the largest if not the largest renovating firms in the southeast. They have all the latest equipment used in their line. Due to their large resources they buy mattress ticking and fancy coverings in large quantities and always carry in stock the very latest in new and standard patterns.

The firm makes and renovates in ad-

INSTALLMENT LXI. ONE STEP DOWN.

The Marshes' few friends had always proclaimed that leases were a mere formality, designed for the protection of the tenant, and that all you had to do was to walk out. Mrs. Marsh had no use for this disonorable procedure but its practicality in the background heartened her for her ap- roach of the landlord who, as a reason- able man, must realize her rightness in asking his permission to leave when he must know that all she really had to do was to walk out on him.

Meanwhile she walked, instead, miles and miles of alien, un- known neighborhoods, climbed mountains of ever gloomier echoing stairs and at last tracked down two rooms on the top floor of a private house in a by-street among the two-hundred which were to be had for not much more than a third the price of the Bronx flat.

"Of course, there won't be much hot water," she told Cornelia, to whom she now for the first time dis- closed her scheme, "and there's only old-fashioned furnace heat—a register in the wall of the big square room and none at all in the little one. But there's a two-burner gas stove that I can get over meals on and the woman who owns the house says it has a really cold weather, when we have to leave that going, if we keep a saucer full of water on one burner the air doesn't get so very nasty."

In really cold weather! Cornelia looked out of the window down at the banks of filth from which a freezing dampness rose and up at the sky, which threatened more snow. But in a world entirely compounded of some- thing too inexplicable to be called even treachery, she was altogether baffled. She said nothing.

"Goodness knows we can't be much colder than we've been here!" ex- claimed Mrs. Marsh, as if in answer to some resistance. "If they'd only built up, next door, before the win- ter came! But to leave the whole side of the flat exposed that way, so that it's often seemed as if the wind would come right through the wall, and then not to put on any extra steam!" pursued the poor lady, con- fusing the subjects of her verbs but not her determination. "No wonder we couldn't keep a lodge! And so I shall tell the agent to tell his land- lord. Our new rooms are clean any- how, and that's more than this place will ever be again. A reasonable man ought to know he'll have to take that into consideration and let us go. It's our trouble. As a matter of fact, he ought to have reduced the rent long ago." Perhaps the agent did not know Mrs. Marsh would have been how valiantly she was contend- ing against nervous dread. "Of course, dear, our new home will seem crow- ded to us at first and it isn't very convenient; I never thought I would have to take my girl to live in such a place. Particularly when it will be so much further for you to go, every morning and evening. But we can pay for it, that's the great thing."

They would have to sell a good deal of their furniture anyway and the sooner the better, so as to pay the deposit of a month's rent in advance on the new rooms. Mrs. Marsh had already had the trunks up from the cellar and the flat looked like the picture of the area over which the recent cyclone had passed. Her soul had shaken off the coma which, for the first time in her life, had lately stifled her evenings, so that she had sat drowsing, feverishly yet with little chills, over the sweater she was trying to knit. Cornelia, briskly she plunged herself and her daughter into the heart searing overtime to pack- ing—that delving into the folded and shelved and closeted past, after what shall be taken and what shall be left.

Was it the mere pain of it which stimulated her? Or was it the sharp necessity of stepping lively, in order not to be caught by the regret, the fears, rising from those broken hopes, those bleak questionings; of running forward eagerly to embrace the shrouded future? Cornelia, too, had only too complete a capacity for ac- ceptance. But it was the acceptance, resigned, apathetic, shot with hyster- ical tremors, of defeat. She was in- capable of the grand gesture with which her mother's hand would cut clear of moorings, as if she were her own. Fate herself handling the shores. Making appointments for furniture dealers to bid against each other's es- timates. Mrs. Marsh had at length taken heart to tell the agent that she would always consider they were nor- mally bound to the landlord for the other half of the February rent in lieu of notice and that when once they were moved to a so much cheaper place they would have that saved up in no time. Little guessing that it was this mention of saving money by moving to a cheaper place which was to decide her landlord against letting her go.

To the mind of the landlord, so wholly incapable of acquainting it- self with the mind of the Marshes, they had simply seen something for less money which they liked better, so they wanted to break their lease. They thought because they were older- ly women they could impose on him with sob stuff! But well did he know about their being on the cold side of the house, about the mice and cock- roaches, the noise of the building, the dirt of it; all these things in making the flat so undesirable, would make it harder to find a new tenant and more imperative to keep the old. Why did they think he went to the expense of having leases made for? He recommended Mrs. Marsh, before she took any step she would regret, to look at clause VIII.

Mrs. Marsh could make nothing of clause VIII by looking at it. But Cornelia, whose trade was words, ought to have looked at it a little closer before she signed it. It pro- vided that in case of any rent being due on the Bronx flat, whether through nonpayment of the monthly rental or through an attempt on the part of the lessee to break the lease, the landlord was given the right to seize all goods and furniture belong- ing to the lessee, or stored within the premises by any other person with the knowledge of the lessee, and sell them for the benefit of the lease.

The Marshes knew what furniture was but they were not clear about "goods" and saw even Cornelia's Canton crepe, hand embroidered in iridescent beads, put up at auction. But what had now really surprised Mrs. Marsh in her last business was the discovery that Miss Browne's law- yer was not quite clear about it, either.

He did not think, he had told her, that the landlord could hold their things; or, if he did, it would be "at his peril." This was evidently a legal phrase amounting to a threat, or she was to be sure to tell it to the land- lord, perhaps across the top of a de- scending bureau, if he appeared on the stairs and stopped in drunks, the lawyer would even send a young man from the office to stand on the stairs and tell him so, if she liked. When Mrs. Marsh still appeared to feel that the peril was largely hers and the trunks, the lawyer was in- finitely patient and kind in explain- ing that this was a new clause which some landlords were trying to get established in leases; he believed it would prove to be illegal but it had never yet been tested in court. I'm sure, Mrs. Marsh desired supremely not to have to test it in court—par- ticularly without her things!—his kind- ness could do nothing to clarify for her the craziness of a world in which a man's only ground of complaint was that you owed him money and in which he could legally avenge him- self by forcing you to owe him more.

From such a world as this it seemed to her that reason had departed and that it had departed, too, from her numbed yet whirling brain. In the street outside the lawyer's office people and vehicles stood in a mov- ing sort of regulated insanity. Late figures in the rapid motion movies, and her consciousness contained no wish but to get back within the still- ness and the shelter of the street which it was also her one wish to leave; nothing was present to her now but the desire to drop her head upon some place and never lift it.

Unless Speaker Can Revert to 1925 Form He Will Mean Little to Senators, Says Expert.

Unless Tris Speaker can revert to his 1925 form, it is hard to see how he can help the Washington Senators return to their.

Clark Griffith's club, after winning its second successive pennant in 1925, barely was able to stay in the first division last season. Speaker's batting fell off 85 points in those two years.

The only way in which the Senators have been strengthened since the close of the 1926 race—aside from the purchase of young pitchers who cost Griffith $150,000 and have yet to prove they are worth it—is by the addition of old Tris Speaker in the outfield.

Both Tris and Griffith believe the "Grey Eagle" has another year of really high-class baseball—the pennant-making brand—in his system. This probably is true, but whether Speaker can deliver it is another matter.

Out With Injuries.

"Spoke" is brittle. He has been out for the past week with an injury. Unless he hits better than .304, his mark for 1926, the former manager of the Indians is going to have a hard time keeping a young, hustling, hard-hitting outfielder like Earl McNeely, one of the Senators' lineup.

Unquestionably, with Goslin, Rice, McNeely and Speaker, the Washington club has a great outfield. But his infield has little class, and obviously is no improvement over that of 1926.

"Buddy" Myer flopped so badly at shortstop that Oscar Bluege had to be moved over from third base. While "Ossie" is a good infielder, he is not likely to be as effective at short as he was on the hot corner. This means that the Senators still lack an adequate double-play combination around the keystone sack. Third base remains a problem.

"Bucky" Harris, himself a crack second baseman, is out with injuries, as is Edgar Rice, with the result that the Washington club certainly does not look as dangerous as it did a month or so ago when the spring training season started.

Johnson Is Out.

The injury to Walter Johnson, which will keep the "Big Train" out for no one knows how long, served to emphasize the weakness of the Washington pitching staff. Griffith and Harris must find a barrel of talent among their recruit pitchers to bolster up the veterans, and thus far in the season it is not altogether apparent just which of the youngsters are destined for a somewhat "recruiting" task.

Washington's catching staff of Ruel and Tate has been strengthened by the addition of Mickey O'Neil, a seasoned backstop formerly with Boston and Brooklyn.

As good a judge of baseball as George Moriarty, new boss of the Detroit Tigers, picks the Senators, next to the Athletics, as the club to beat in the forthcoming American league pennant race. So do other experts.

Despite this, the Washington aggregation, ageing, brittle and lacking woefully in pitchers, would seem to have one foot in the second division and to be slipping fast.

STRIB-HERMAN BATTLE SITE IS ARRANGED

Montgomery, Ala., April 3.—(AP)—R. E. (Tank) Grantham, promoter of things festive for the American Legion here, announced tonight that the proposed bout between W. L. (Young) Stripling, Macon, and "Tiny" Herman, Portland, Ore., slayweight, would be staged at Maxwell field on the night of April 11.

Grantham stated tonight that Major H. H. C. Richards, commander of the local flying field, had informed him that the bout could be staged there in view of the fact that Herman is a member of the United States army reserve corps.

The bout was scheduled to be held at Cramton Bowl on April 11 as one of the features of the opening day program of the Southeastern league here, but was banned by order issued Saturday by Governor Graves, in accordance with the state code.

Memphis, Tenn., April 3.—(AP)—Travis Jackson, New York, Giant shortstop who was operated upon here last week for appendicitis, was reported late today as "recovering rapidly" at the Methodist hospital.

Attending physicians declared Jackson will be able to resume his position with the Giant team as playing member by April 15.

Rangers Win First Polo Game at Fort

Freebooters Fall Before Attack of Winners in Initial Game of Season.

BY BEN COTHARAN.

In the first polo game of the season at Fort McPherson the Rangers defeated the Freebooters, 4 to 1, Sunday afternoon.

The game was a six chukker affair with goals being made in the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth chukkers. P. D. Christian, leading rider Ranger, was the outstanding player of the game, with his three goals made in addition to beautiful exhibition of riding.

Time after time Christian would get in front of the players and carry the ball down to within scoring distance only to miss. He made two of his goals in this manner, however, with clean, hard drives a quarter distance from the goal.

Lieutenant Skelton, of the Freebooters, gave a good exhibition of riding, but had the same trouble as Christian—missing the ball.

Lieutenant Childs scored the other goal for the Rangers. Lieutenant Skelton had a foul called on him, and the Rangers were given a free shot for goal. Childs rushed into the scrimmage and brought the ball out for a shot.

This came in the second chukker.

Johnson, of the Freebooters, had made a goal just as the foul was called on Skelton, and it was so good. Later Skelton got ahead of the players and was driving down the field for a goal, when he was ridden off by a Ranger.

The two teams were composed of men from the Governor's Horse Guard and officers from Fort McPherson. No spills occurred during the match, although there were several occasions when the players were looked for.

A large crowd was on hand for the match, and Lieutenant Weckerling, athletic officer of the post, expects more during the spring and summer.

HORNSBY MUST SELL SHARES BEFORE FRIDAY

Pittsburgh, April 3.—(United News).—Unless Rogers Hornsby has disposed of his stock in the St. Louis Cardinals by next Friday, National league club owners will here on a threat to take action on the matter.

President Heydler has received indications of support from every club president except Charles A. Steiner, of the New York Giants. The National league will attempt to do one of two things at its special meeting.

An attempt will be made to bring together Hornsby and a purchaser for the 1,167 shares of St. Louis stock now held by the second baseman of the Cardinals.

(2) Failing in this, the league is expected to go on record as opposing Hornsby's right to play with the Cardinals while he remains a shareholder.

Hornsby bought the stock at $45 a share. He has been offered $75 a share and has refused to sell.

The latest word from John J. Graw, of the Giants, is to the effect that the club is prepared to go to court to establish Hornsby's right to play with New York regardless of his private property.

HAWK-EYE SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Notice, Fisherman!

The hunting season is over in Georgia for another few months and the fishing season is about to begin but the "commandments" below may be applied to a fish hook as well as a scatter gun.

The "Ten Commandments" printed herewith may not be as important as those of Moses to the human race but there would be fewer casualties as the result of hunting trips if the gunbearers of the nation would mind the words of Henry Wellington Wack, under whose name the "commandments" appeared recently in Outdoor America, official organ of the Isaac Walton League of America.

The Commandments.

Thou shalt not employ others to kill thy game for thee, or count game killed by others.

Thou shalt speak to the farm owner of land in a gentle voice and kindly entreat him to let thee hunt on his premises, lest he boot thy north end from his dominion.

Point not thy gun toward any living thing that thou dost not wish to kill. Lo, there are fools and idiots wandering to and fro on the earth, but he who fails to observe this rule is verily the King imbecile.

Shoot not thy gun toward any cattle, swine, or farm live stock, within one-fourth mile of thee. If thou shalt disobey this, the farmer will jab thy pants with his pitch fork, till thou roarest for help and thereafter must eat thy meals standing.

Unload thy gun before thou enterest thy automobile. Then may thy days be long and thy funeral postponed.

Take not thy gun by the muzzle to draw it toward thee. Verily some foolish human may love thee and why shouldst thou die?

Look not into the muzzle of thy gun whether it be loaded or empty. Verily an empty gun shooteth out an inquiring eye, and the undertaker growth rich thereby.

Thou shalt not carry thy gun cocked. Verily, thy art a mighty hunter, but the hides of thy friends will not turn shot.

Climb not fences with thy gun in thy hands. Put thy gun through first with the muzzle pointing away from thee and all living things. Better it is to miss chance at one crow than to return to thy house with guilt in thy heart and thy friend's hind leg in a basket.

All these rules thou shalt obey and live past three score and ten. If thou failest, thou shalt sleep in thy nice new coffin or in the prison cell while the mourners go about the street.

JIM LONDOS WILL ARRIVE HERE TODAY

Chicago, April 3.—(United News).—Some of the best swimmers in the United States, many of whom are certain to be members of next year's American Olympic team, will compete among the 235 entries in the national A. A. U. indoor men's swimming championships this week.

Premiere among the stars is John Weissmuller, of the Illinois A. C., who won six events in the central A. A. U. meet and who is regarded as the world's fastest swimmer. He will compete in all free style events and relays.

Walter Lanfer, of the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A., will defend his title in the backstroke event while Walter Spence, of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., will compete in the 200-yard breaststroke, which was won last year by Rademacher, of Germany.

Pete Des Jardines, of Florida, made the outdoor diving champion last year. He will compete in the high and low springboard diving events and is a favorite to win.

PANTHER CLUB IS STRONGER THIS SEASON

Fort Worth, Texas, April 3.—(AP)—Fort Worth's entry into the Texas league pennant chase this year will be stronger in several departments than it was in 1926, when, for the first time in several years, the Cats failed to finish first. Fort Worth ended last year's campaign with six one-half games behind the pennant winning Dallas combine, but at that the Felines were in third position.

Since last autumn, however, the Panthers have added men who are expected to strengthen the catching staff, shortstop position and outfield spots. As for pitching, the hurling force is about the same save Jimmy Walkup is gone and Bill Moore has been added. Walkup was sold to Detroit. Paul Wachtel, Dennis Burns, Little Dickie Kerr and George Biscardi, finished back and they will share mound duty with Hubbell, obtained from Toronto of the International league, and Moore.

Moore also came from the International league, Rochester turning him over to the locals.

Moore Replaced.

George Biscardi, of the Boston Red Sox, has replaced Ross Moore as Doo Smith's catching partner and these two are counted on heavily in regaining the lost prestige that last year's finish wrought.

As for the infield, Ed Konechely will be at first; Howard Linsmore at second, and Tex McDonald at third, while the shortstop job is still in doubt. Konechely and Linsmore are veterans on the club, which "Mack" is a recent addition. Horace Kibbie, former pitcher of the Boston Braves, and Wayne Windle are fighting it out for short.

The outfield is expected to be composed of Joe Bonowick, secured from New York; Fred W. Knight, of Shreveport; Joe Clayton, of the Three I league; Eddie Moore, another newcomer, and Ziggy Sears, a veteran.

Final 'Y' Church Meeting Tonight

The Y Church Athletic association will hold its last meeting tonight at the Y. M. C. A., before the leagues open, and this will be the last opportunity for new Sunday school teams to enter this season. Twenty teams have already entered the church leagues and three leagues have been formed. Should four more teams enter another league will be formed.

The Bradley Knitting company, through their local agents, E. E. Jordan and Son, have presented six of the finest sweaters to the association to be presented to the leading batter in each of the leagues.

North, South Golf Tourney Today

Pinehurst, N. C., April 3.—(AP)—The 27th north and south amateur golf championship, the oldest of the north and south tournaments series, will start here tomorrow morning with 165 entrants participating.

Among the players will be many outstanding stars, including William C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, president of the U. S. G. A., and a former national champion; Richard A. Jones, of New York; Fred W. Knight, of Shreveport; Joe Clayton, of the Three I league; Eddie Moore, another newcomer, and Ziggy Sears, a veteran.

Crackers Win Over Prison Nine, 14 to 7

Commodore Feds Pound Markle for 13 Hits—Tubby Walton Stars.

Although it was Sunday and the players were supposed to take a rest, Bert Niehoff took his Crackers out to the federal prison and put them through a stiff workout with the Commodore Feds.

Many of the boys absorbed quite a bit of batting practice during the game, which the Crackers won by a score of 14 to 7. The Feds also got in a lot of batting practice at the expense of Chief Markle, the boy that refused to sign his contract until the Crackers bosses agreed to give him more money.

Fifteen base knocks were registered by the Crackers during the Sunday afternoon slugfest. Ray Francis was touched for only three hits while he stayed in the box, and these were mostly scattered while the former Cracker holdout was the victim of a batting spree of the Feds. He was whacked about the big lot for a total of 15 hits.

Although the Crackers batted only 15 hits, they were well divided among the Atlantans, no one getting over three hits. Markle was the only one to collect three hits for the day, while several of the boys bagged a couple apiece.

The large crowd attending the game was given a real good time. Tubby Walton, manager of the famous Walton "Homecooked" team, was on hand and as usual supplied the grandstand with plenty of amusement. Tubby galloped about in the usual manner and was the spice of the game with his funny stunts. In fact, all of the boys took a hand in entertaining the crowd.

All in all it was a good game and everybody had a fine time while it lasted, save the scorekeeper, who was kept as busy as a hungry dog in a meat house.
